

Nandini

DATE:16/2/17

VENUE:CHEETA CAMP

A family survey was conducted on the BMC school families on 16/2/17. I had surveyed two homes, I took almost 15 min to interview a family. I observed that the houses are very small and in the same home there were grandparents and also uncle and aunt which means the home was too crowded. Their grandparents were also uneducated. The chawl was very narrow and dark, there was also no proper ventilation. When I asked about the school to the parents they said that their teachers are not regular and the school is not strict.

My solution to this is that the parents should be provided to their children.

Even parents meeting must be conducted every month and their parents must be informed to talk about the child's educational growth and also the facilities.

DATE:17/2/17

VENUE:CHEETA CAMP

A family survey was conducted on BMC school families on 17/2/17. I had surveyed eight homes. I took almost 15 min to interview a family. The first thing which I observed is most of the houses here are chawl type with 1 room and terrace no proper place to sit and do their household works. Here most of the people go to public toilets which is not at all proper and clean. Most of the houses are with joint families. Some families I interviewed were joint families, grandparents were educated till 8 and the parents studied till 10 and 7. If asked to the parents about the school where their childrens studying there is no facilities, irregular teacher, no proper food on time from the school, till now they didn't get their school uniform and the teachers didn't conduct any parents meeting. Family I interviewed they told me they are satisfied with their school and most of the public here in cheeta camp are muslims.

My solution to this is that parents should be get educated with their children's what they are studying.

Parents should visit once a week or a month to the school to ask about their child's growth towards education and co-curricular activities.